BIG CROWD HEARS REV. SNODGRASS

NIGHTLY SERVICES AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH ATTRACTIVE.

COTTAGE MEETS TODAY

Sermon Subject for Tonight Will Be "How to Win Hundreds to Christ During This Revival.

A large crowd heard the sermon given last night at the First Christian church by the pastor, Rev. R. E. Snodgrass. The platform of the church is being enlarged today to accomodate the big chorus which is furnishing the music under the direction of Prof. J. A. Kay singing evangelist. Cottage prayer meetings were held this afternoon in twelve districts of the city. These meetings will continue this week at 2:30 o'clock each afternoon.

Mr. Kay sings a special number at each service and the sermon subject for tonight will be "How to win Hundreds to Christ during this revival."

Last night Mr. Snodgrass spoke from the subject, "God's Armour Bearers" saying part:

"One of the saddest statements that ever came from the pen of the apostle Paul was upon the occasion of his armour bearer forsaking him, when he said, 'Demas hath forsaken me.' Paul had faced the frothing canines and fiery eyes of the king of beasts. He had sat in an inner cell of an old Phillipian jail, weighted down by iron chains and smarting from cruel stripes, had stood before many an impudent mob and heard the insulting guffaws and slanderous invectives of conscienceless persecutors, but he had borne all this unflinchingly, bravely, but when his armor bearer forsook him, it broke his heart. I care not for the vile epithets that may be hurled against me by this world. The contemptible liquor monster may wince and wriggle and writhe in hatred for me and blow his vile fumes and sling his poisonous froth in my face and I will not flinch; I am not afraid of the world; I challenge the devil; I'll count blows, I'll measure swords, I dare him to come on, but don't let this congregation forsake me in our effort to win souls in this meeting."

A hurl was taken to those who show unequal favor to the sexes in this country.

"We'll grant that wanton scoundrel and infamous reprobate, whose character is as black as subterranean darkness, the privilege of our parlors and the company of our girls, simply because he flashes the diamond in the air or hides the gnashing wolf behind an affected gentlemanliness, while the young girl whom this devil or another like him has ruined, we'll kick into the street and spurn her heart broken penience simply because she was irresponsible—born a girl. I say, reach to the girl the mercy of a motherly hand when she comes back repenting."

Two ways were given how that all night bearmor bearers, first by active service ,and second by prayer. Many are kept from active service because of either indifference, selfishness or diffidence. All were urged to get into the battle lin eand fight the good faith and battle line and fight the good faith and be true armor bearers for the preacher, the unsaved, one another, the weak brother and for Christ.

NEW OIL BURNER AT POWER PLANT

WILL GENERATE HEAT FOR DAY POWER

WILL CONSERVE COAL

Manager Hellmers Takes Precautionary Measures. Many Plants Now Shut Down by Coal Shortage.

With light and power plants being shut down all over the country for lack of coal, Maryville is very fortunate in having experienced no trouble and with the installation of a new oil burner at the plant, there is no posibility of future troubles.

Over two months ago when Manager C. C. Hellmers of the light company saw that a coal shortage was imminent on acount of the threatened strike, he ordered an oil burner which has now been installed and is ready for use. There are three boilers at the power house, one now with an oil burner and two with coal burners. The day power can be entirely supplied with the oil burned and a large amount of coal conserved by so doing. Crude oil is used and the big storage tank was put in place yesterday. These burners have been used with success in all cases. They are more efficient and as the supply oil is not dependent on labor conditions to any material extent, there is no possibility of fuel shortage. Manager Hellmers purchased coal from every quarter obtainable when the coal trouble appeared about to materialize and has been able to give full spply of power with the exception of the time the water plant was shut down and his supply of water for boilers cut off. The cut off of the water supply was due to the damage of flood waters, unprecedented happening at this season and not to lack of fuel.

Later there will be other burners installed at the power plant, so that the entire heat generation can be done with oil. A pipe line will be laid from the railroad station to pump the oil into the storage tank and thereby save the long drayage haul. This work will not be done until the spring.

ATTEMPTED ESCAPE FROM STATE PENITENTIARY

Pavey Makes Good His Escape—Companion Falls From Wall Injured.

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 17.—Amid a fullisade of a hundred or more shots, Harry Funk and Ira Pavey, made a dash for liberty from the state penitentiary early Saturday morning. Pavey made good his escape, but Funk, when the guards fired fell from the wall, sustaining a broken back. He is now in the prison hospital.

The attempt was made about 6:30 a. m., after the two convicts had cut the wires carrying the current for the athletic field lights. In the darkness they placed a ladder against the wall and making their way over the top when discovered. A fusilade of shots brought the entire force of guard to the scene and awoke the town. Pavey managed to elude the guards and fled in the darkness. A posse with bloodhounds started in pursuit.

Pavey had been sentenced for two years, from Kansas City, charged with carrying concealed weapons. Funk was sent from Audrian county, in January 1918, to serve a twenty-five year sentence.

WORLD'S CHAMPION HURDLER INSTRUCTOR AT UNIVERSITY

Amateur Athletics to Lose Robert Simpson, Who Becomes Professional Track Coach.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 17.—The amateur athletic world lost one of its greatest athletes with the announcement that Robert I. Simpson, world's champion hurdler and classed among the leading all round stars in the country, will become a professional track coach at the University of Missouri. Simpson upon assuming his new duties, which, according to W. F. Meanwell, director of athletics at the University of Missouri, will be Dec. 1, automatically loses his standing as an amateur and will be barred from all amateur competition.

Simpson has held practicaly every honor for which he strove, having been National Missouri Valley conference, Inter allied and Western conference titleholder. War prevented Simpson from participating in the Olympic games scheduled to take place at Berlin in 1916.

Besides having been champion hurdler, Simpson ranked high as a broad and high jumper, discus thrower, shot-putter and sprinter. With the exception of taking part in exhibition competitions, Simpson probably will not again figure publicly in an athletic competition as there are practically no professional track athletes in this country.

Twice he performed the astonishing feat of sumounting the high hurdles (120 yards) in 14 3-5 seconds, winning the event in the Western Inter collegiate conference on the second occasion. He also tied the world's 220-yard low hurdle record of 23 3-5 seconds. Simson was a quarter miler of high class being a 50-seconds man as a member of the crack Missouri university relay team.

POINTS ON ELECTION OF PRESIDENT

CHAMP CLARK WOULD REMEDY THE PRESENT SITUATION.

CASE NOMINEES DEATH

No Provision Made in Constitution for Such Catastrophe—Legislation May Be Revised.

Washington, D. C. Nov. 18.—How many of the millions of Americans who vote for their choice for president and vice-president every four years ever have stopped to think what a mess this country would be in if the successful candidate should die between election day and the date of his inauguration?

There is one man who is giving the matter much thought and he is Champ Clark, speaker of the House of Representatives from 1911 to this year ,and he proposes to introduce some bills to remedy the situation so that the nation never will be confronted with the three or four serious problems that are easily possible, but which the greatest good fortune has kept from the United States during its history.

These three dates should be remembered as vital points in the curious and unattended situation as regards a possible tangle over the presidential succession in the event of the death of the president-elect:

1. The election of presidential electors is held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

2. The electorial college of the forty-eight states meet at their state capitals to cast their votes on the second Wednesday in December.

3. The two houses of congress count the vote of the electors on the third Wednesday in February.

And here are some of the possible perplexities that might arise, as figured out by Ex-Speaker Clark:

Suppose the successful candidate dies before the electors meet in December? How would the electors of the forty-eight states determine who to vote for? It might be possible to reconvene the national convention of the successful party, or to hold an informal convention of the electors from the various states.

The problem arises from the failure of the constitution of the United States to cover this point in any manner. No such occasion has, as yet, arisen, but that does not mean that none ever will. The nearest approach was in 1872 when Horace Greeley, candidate of the coalition in opposition to President Grant, died less than a month after his defeat at the polls. The 66 electoral votes that would have been cast for him had he lived until December were distributed among a half dozen men.

After the state electors have cast their ballots they prepare three copies of the formal vote, one going to congress by regular mail, another by special messenger and the third is filed with the United States district court of the locality in which the vote is taken. Then the electors' power expires. If the successful candidate should die after they have formally voted for him there is no authority to be found anywhere that can call them together again. Congress, when it meets in February, has no right to change the names on the ballots in such a contingency as just noted.

As a third possibility, suppose that after congress had formally canvassed the vote in February the president-elect should die before the inaugural in March? The constitution provides for no power that could reconvene the electoral college, or congress for that purpose, if it should have adjourned.

In addition to having discovered these grave possibilities of future troubles, Mr. Clark has provided what he believes would be a remedy. He suggests that the governors of the states be given the power to reconvene the electors for a further ballot, or that the secretary of state be authorized to call another joint meeting of congress to take some action to straighten out the tangle. The former speaker proposes to introduce a resolution shortly which will bring about a threshing out of the matter by congress and possibly forestall such catastrophes as have been described.

Another curious omission of the constitution is that there is no provision for the successful candidate being notified of his election. The nominee of the national conventions always is notified of the honor done him, and in an impressive manner, but there is no such ceremony for the president-elect. He is supposed to "just hear" it, and it is a fair assumption that he will.

FINAL VOTE FOR PEACE TREATY AT WEEK END

Predictions of Republicans and Democratic Senators. "Toning Down" of Provisions Asked.

Washington, Nov. 18.—A compromise resulting in the ratification of the peace treaty with Germany, with reservations satisfactory to two thirds of the senate was regarded by many Republicans and Democratic senators today as not improbable before the end of the week.

Leaders of the so called "mild reservationists" on the Republican side are willing to agree on their side to the first resolution originally desired as a preamble being eliminated or "toned down" if the rest of the majority of reservations are permitted to stand.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Uncle Sam will pay the bill for all coal miners increase wages if the last proposition of the operators is successful. The operators meeting in secret session here today had prictically agreed on wage increase to the miners equal to the excess profits of last year. Associate City Counsel Hamilton of St. Louis and City Attorney Fred A. Moon of Springfield, Mo., representing all the cities and towns in the state, are now drawing up a brief attacking the right of the commission to continue the rates after Dec. 1, when they automatically expire under the order of Postmaster General Burleson. Hamilton stated today that the brief will contend that the United States is still technically at war and the commission therefore has no jurisdiction in the case. The telephone company is seeking the extension.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford Sedan with electric starting and lighting system and demountable rims with 3½-inch tires all around, for every day in the year has no equal as a family car. Just as popular on the farm as it is in the city. In fact, it fits the family demands in every vocation of life. Large, roomy seats, finely upholstered, plate glass windows make it an open car in pleasant weather, while in rainy and inclement weather it becomes a closed car, dust-proof and rain-proof. It is ideal for social functions, the theatre, or parties; carrying the children to school, or for touring. It is not only comfortable, but really cozy, and above all, economical in operation and maintenance, and has all the Ford merits of strength and durability. We solicit your order for one. Women Eternal.

Women certainly cannot complain that the great minds of the world treat them with indifference. Flashed over the telegraph news service which rounds the globe was a notice from Paris today which said "nothing below the knees, nothing above the waist," latest style of evening gowns which made their appearance at fashionable tango palaces.

As a conservation of clothes, the women have evidently agreed to an armistice with the dealers, for the news further states that the winter's styles will out do the "undress dress" of the Empress Josephine's regime.

Think, isn't it wonderful to have the styles of women's dress classed with the peace treaty, the coal strike the soviet government, d'Annunzio's where abouts and similar history making events!

O Boy, how much gas will make the run to Paris?

WIDOW SUPPORTS FAMILY ON FRUITS OF 40-FT LOT

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 18.—In these days of H. C. L. the marvelous work of Mrs. Harry D. Weeks, of this city, comes as a beacon light to the "poor city toiler." She has supported a family of four from the fruits of a forty foot city lot; she has kept this family in fresh vegetables and wholesome foods during a period of three years; she has made the lot pay for itself and she has bought $1,000 worth of War Savings stamps. All from a forty foot city lot. She attributes her success to the raising of a variety of vegetables. Many kinds were planted if only a few of each. She had sixty varieties of fruit which she exhibited recently here at a Playfield fair, and her exhibit was clearly the feature of the fair. The forty foot lot has a space reserved for chickens. Eggs are served each morning.

NEW ENGLISH DICTIONARY DEFINES AMERICAN SLANG

London, Nov. 18.—Cassell's new English dictionary contains a large number of words that came into use during the war, many of them borrowed from American slang. A few of the innovations are:

Bus—an aeroplane.
Cold feet—to be in a funk.
Dud—No good.
Guy—a toff.
Highbrow—A highly superior person.
Eyewash—humbug.
No flies on one—no fool.
Jazz—a noisy and boisterous dance in ragtime.
Movies—a kinematographic exhibition.
